

ANTILLE

CRABS

ANTILLE is a life jacket certified according to ISO 12402-4, equipped with a black acetal buckle closure with a 40-mm strap, a whistle secured to the jacket, 2 retro-reflective bands positioned on the modular collar of the jacket – an element that provides greater head protection – and a crotch strap. Sizes XXXS and XXS feature a padded crotch strap, whilst all sizes can be fitted with an automatic emergency light.

Designed for recreational activities carried out on inland and/or coastal waters, in very favourable weather conditions and where rescue can be awaited in calm waters, ANTILLE features the rapid rotation system for rigid VSG devices, designed and developed by Veleria San Giorgio. The rotational and tilting thrust of the body is ensured by this system in conjunction with the specific cut and positioning of the foam material.

This is made possible by the bulk positioned on the chest that – thanks to the proper asymmetry between the right and left sides and their concentration at sternum level in line with the downward thrust – ensures rotational speed and the correct inclination angles of the person. The ANTILLE CRABS variant is also available in a specially-designed model for children with customised marine-themed graphics and a double padded crotch strap.
