

AMERICA'S IMPACT VEST 51.11 Kn

Art. 05376

Designed to provide maximum safety and comfort during all water activities, the 51.11 Kn – whose name derives from reaching 51.11 knots during the America's Cup – represents a breakthrough in the innovation of flotation devices. Through an in-depth impact analysis, foam material was incorporated not only to enhance buoyancy, but also to help reduce the effects of impacts caused by collisions with hard surfaces. With a buoyancy force of 50 Newtons and EN ISO 12402-5 certification, this life jacket is the result of a meticulous development process and an evolution of the model used by the renowned French team Orient Express during the 2024 America's Cup, one of the most prestigious and competitive events in international sailing.

Made from high-quality materials, the 51.11 Kn life jacket weighs only 600 grams, making it extremely lightweight and comfortable to wear. Its highly breathable structure is designed to keep the body cool and dry even during long sessions on the water, allowing athletes to focus on their performance without distractions. The comfortable and intuitive fit ensures complete freedom of movement, which is essential for water sports such as kitesurfing, jet skiing, regattas, kayaking, or boating excursions.

Whether for professional use or passionate sports enthusiasts, the 51.11 Kn life jacket represents a premium choice, combining safety, innovation, and tailor-made customization.

- Possibility to customize the life jacket with a dedicated fabric patch, attachable via Velcro on the back above the VeleriaSangiorgio logo. The patch can be easily removed or replaced to suit your team's needs or personal branding.
