

51.11 kn – America's cup

Art. 05376

The 51.11 kn vest represents a significant step forward in the innovation of buoyancy aid devices, designed to ensure maximum safety and comfort during water sports activities. With a buoyancy class of 50 Newtons, certified EN ISO 12402-5, this vest is the result of a meticulous development process, evolving from the model used by the renowned French team "Orient Express" during the 2024 America's Cup—one of the most prestigious and competitive events in the international sailing scene.

Made with premium materials, the 51.11 kn vest weighs only 600 grams, making it extremely lightweight and easy to wear. Its highly breathable structure is designed to keep the body cool and dry even during long sessions in the water, allowing athletes to focus on their performance without distractions. The fit has been carefully crafted to be intuitive and comfortable, offering total freedom of movement—an essential feature for water sports enthusiasts.

Among the distinctive features of this vest are:

- Zipper opening and closure: designed to ensure a secure and quick fit, making it easy to put on and take off the vest in any situation.
- Designed to hold a hydration bladder < 1.5L, to stay hydrated during activities.
- Its highly breathable structure keeps the body dry even during long sessions in the water.
- Front phone pocket: a practical solution for keeping your phone within reach, allowing athletes to stay connected and ready to communicate in case of need.
- Floating knife pocket: an essential accessory for any situation on the water, ensuring athletes are always prepared to face the unexpected.
- Exclusive design with a central zip closure, created as a replacement for traditional buckles.
- Internal storage pockets: secure and practical spaces for storing small personal items such as keys or documents, keeping them safe and easily accessible.

Every detail of the 51.11 kn vest has been meticulously designed to provide maximum comfort and buoyancy support, ensuring that athletes can fully focus on their performance without concerns. With the 51.11 kn vest, every water sports enthusiast can face aquatic challenges with confidence, style, and the assurance of having a reliable companion by their side. Whether it's for regattas, kayaking, or casual boat outings, this vest is the ideal choice for those who seek both safety and high performance.
